OTHER EXPERIENCE

As a teenager and young person, I wrote plays, acted and sang in numerous school and community productions and later assisted with several productions in Austin, Texas.

For the past 25 years, I've written and published books for young readers, non-fiction books for adults and magazine articles. I've also written short stories and poetry that have been published in a variety of places.

In March 2009, I made a full-time commitment to playwriting and since then have written three full-length plays and numerous ten-minute plays.

Many of my plays are inspired by my quirky native Texan and Southern kinfolk.
